Gray, Maine – March 2020

Dry Mills Schoolhouse Repairs Continue!

Repairs to the Dry Mills Schoolhouse continue during this winter season.

Work on the platform and vapor barrier are complete with the majority of the subfloor work done as well.

Merry Movers returned to the site to lower the building back onto the platform and will be removing the rest of their equipment shortly. This will allow the Carpenter to finish sealing up the subfloor and allow interior work to begin.

The Dry Mills Schoolhouse Committee hopes to have a grand reopening sometime in 2020! Stay tuned for more information.

Explore Gray 2020

This Spring you may notice a few banners up on street poles around town, featuring the words "Explore Gray". The banners are part of a campaign to invite residents and visitors alike to explore Gray. The banners are part of a promotional campaign headed by the Community & Economic Development Committee \(CEDC\).

The Explore Gray theme invites members of our community to get out and about this Spring season and it welcomes people to visit our town to explore our businesses, places of natural interest and historic sites. "We want people to get out, walk about and enjoy Gray in 2020!" says Eliza Watson of Gray and chair of the CEDC.

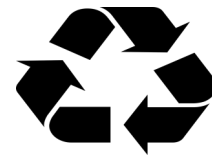

The committee hopes that the Banner Project will generate a sense of place in town and attract community sponsors. The Committee aims to have clusters of banners installed at the gateways to the Village District at Yarmouth Road, Main Street and Shaker Rd, then also at Libby Hill Road, and Shaker Rd around that intersection. However, this Spring they are starting out with twelve banners. To reach their coverage goal of forty-seven CEDC welcomes members of the community members to sponsor the installation.

This seasonal banner design, was created in house by the CEDC and funded in part by both their budget and community donations. If you would like to sponsor the Banner Project too, please reach out to the CEDC by email at cedc@graymaine.org. CEDC is suggesting donations start at $100. Grant writing help is also welcome.

Welcome to the March Recycling Corner!

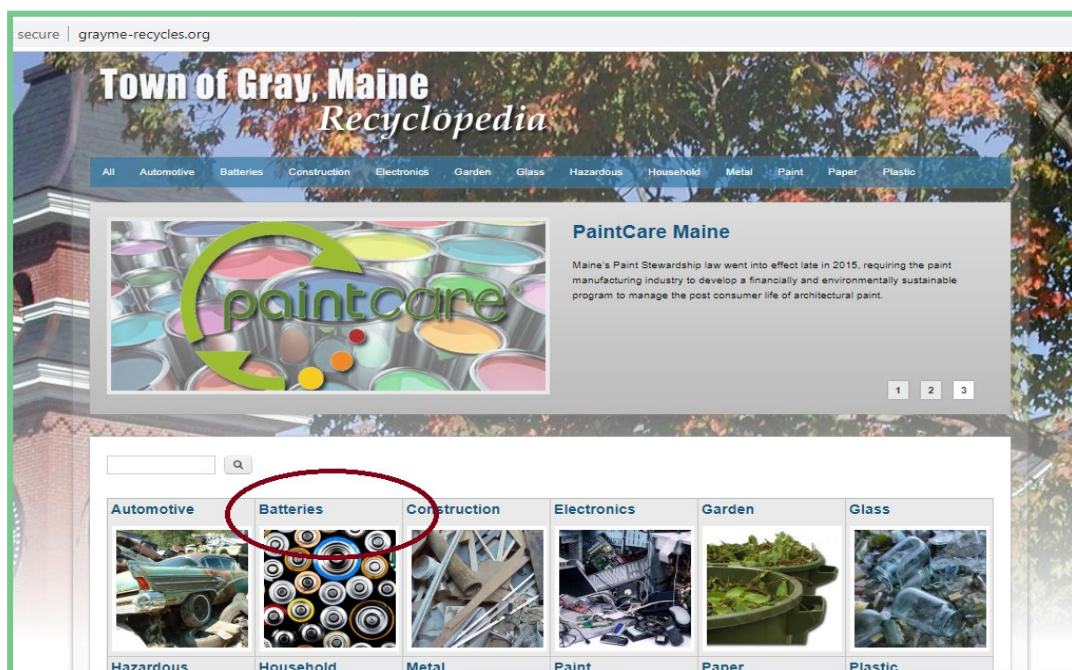

Have you used Recyclopedia yet? Recyclopedia is a one stop shop for all your questions about recycling and solid waste. Please check it out!

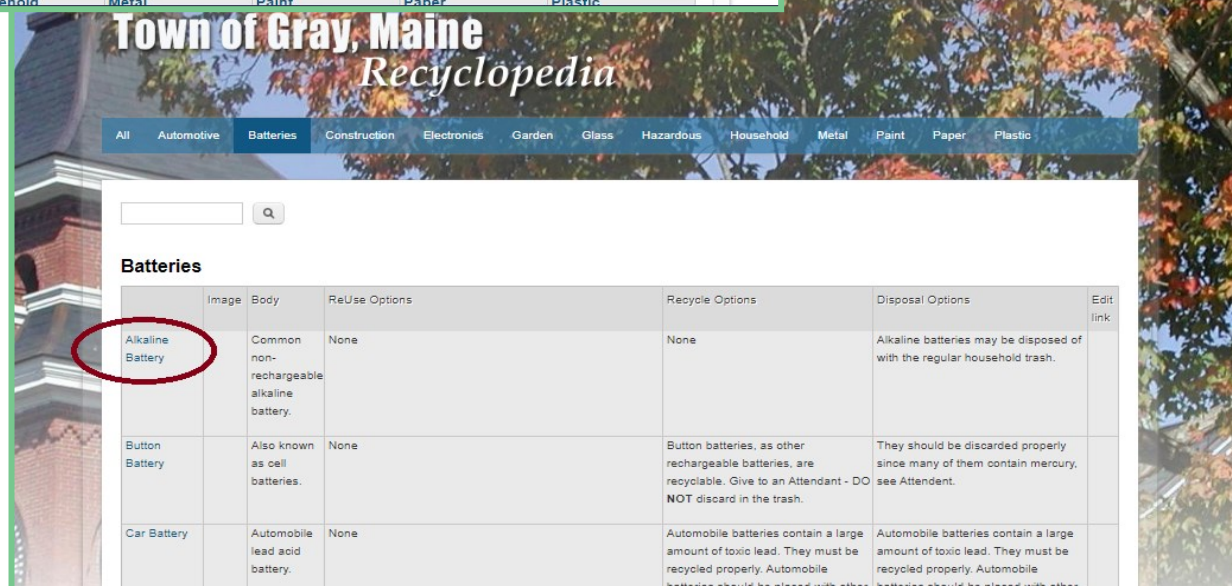

In this months column we are featuring the site with a tour.

Let's look up batteries. The site will tell us about all types of batteries but we want to know what to do with all those remote and controller batteries? Let's look it up together!

First, look up the site at grayme-recycles.org. Then find the icon and category labeled "Batteries".

When you click into the batteries category you should see this type of list next:

Oh! Alkaline batteries can go in the regular trash. But we can also see that those little button batteries can not. Those we have to give to an attendant.

Recycling Committee appreciates that you take the time to sort your household waste. It makes a huge difference. Thank you for educating your self and your family about recycling with Recyclopedia too!
